Abstract

[0026]   This application describes a modification to a wireless communication system protocol Medium Access Control layer in which certain short medium access control layer acknowledgments have higher layer acknowledgments appended to 5   them in order to prevent the requirement of a data receiving node needing to contend for the wireless medium under asymmetric data traffic flow.